THE PASSIONS OF OLIVER

Oliver Twist is born in a workhouse in 1880s England. As an orphan he grows up in a run home under difficult circumstances among other children that treat him badly. At the age of nine he runs away and he travels towards London. In London he meets a boy who works for a criminal, Fagin, who takes advantage of orphan boys. He is trained to pick pockets but he is caught. Luckily the man from whom Oliver stole, Mr Brownlow, takes him to his house and takes good care of him. But Fagin finds him and makes him to steal again, Oliver is shot while stealing from a house, but the woman who lives there, Mrs Maylie and her adopted niece Rose, take him with them. But Fagin and another man named Monks are trying to find Oliver. Afterwards Mr Brownlow confronts Monks and finds out that Monks is Oliver's half brother and Rose is his aunt. At the end Mr Brownlow adopts Oliver and along with the Maylies live happily in the countryside. MHTSIOY E.

A young child, called Oliver Twist is an orphan and as a result he lives in an awful orphan house with other children. Finally, life smiles at him and he finds his family, after lots of adventure and he is quite tough. Nevertheless, he listens to his heart and he follows it. Monks is Oliver's brother who wants to kill him because he believes that Oliver wants to steal his prospects. When he understands that his plan will be revealed by Rose he asks her to marry him by threatening her that he will send her away. In the end, his dirty plan is revealed and policemen take him to jail.
POLYCHRONAKI DORA
Monks and Oliver have the same father. He is greedy and spoiled, who is interested in his grandfather's property. He is the most deceitful, violent, heartless and cruel man I have ever seen. Monks is tall, thin and has a mark in face.
KOKONOZI IOANNA-
MPAKANDRITSOU GEORGIA

Bill Sykes is the most violent character in the book and it seems like he is the villain but he is just a piece in the plans of the real villain, Mr Monks. Sykes in the end regrets what he did.
