Unreal Love

Once upon a time one girl had a birthday. Her parents gave her many presents. One of them was a laptop.

Unreal Love

Everyone of her friends had Facebook profiles. She created one too, but one boy started to write to her. She didn't tell her parents, but she also told her friends. After time they began to avoid her, because they told her that this boy wasn't a real friend. She began to feel lonely.

The girl wrote to him.

- I want to see you.

The boy thought and said:

- OK. In a restaurant called Love, at table four near the window, after two hours.

The girl said:

- OK.

After two hours the two of them were in the restaurant. She saw the boy but he wasn't a boy - he was an old man. Her friends were right. Not everyone in the Facebook is a friend.
